

Parliamentarian Bio

Allison Batts began work at Auburn in January 2015. She graduated magna cum laude and as a University Honors Scholar from Auburn with her bachelor's degree in economics. She went on to receive her doctor of jurisprudence from the University of Tennessee. She practiced law for seven years and was a Teach for America corps member. She serves as an academic counselor in Student-Athlete Support Services and is currently responsible for men's golf, women's golf, women's basketball and football as their Academic Counselor. She is from Athens, Alabama.